China ranges from mostly plateaus and mountains in the west to lower lands in the east. In the east along the shores of the Yellow Sea and the East China Sea. There are extensive and densely populated alluvial plains. On the edges of the Inner Mongolian plateau in the north, grasslands can be seen. Southern China is dominated by hills and low mountain ranges. In the central-east are the deltas of China's two major rivers, the Yellow River and Yangtze River. Most of China's arable lands lie along these rivers, and they were the centres of China's major ancient civilizations. In the west, the north has a great alluvial plain and the south has a vast calcareous tableland traversed by hill ranges of moderate elevation, and the Himalayas, containing the Earth's highest point, called Mount Everest.

The climatic conditions of China vary greatly. The northern zone (including Beijing) has summer daytime temperatures of over 30 degrees Celsius and winters of Arctic severity. The central zone (including Shanghai) has a temperate continental climate with very hot summer and cold winter. The southern zone (including Guangzhou) has a subtropical climate with very hot summer and mild winter.

Zhenjiang is located in the southwest of China, Jiangsu Province. It has a long history, beautiful sceneries and a pleasant weather. Zhenjiang is a famous historic and cultural city in China. The most popular places here are: Jin Mountain, Jiao Mountain and Beigu Mountain, which are along the Yangtze River. The scenery reminds of a magnificent painting of the landscape.

Thousands of years of history can be observed in the Xijin Ferry Street, which delivers a unique style of architecture. It resembles a natural history museum. Compared to cities like Beijing, Shanghai or Guangzhou, Zhenjiang has a more simple and quiet Chinese flavor, also known as the "Oriental Romantic Town". Zhenjiang provides a rich offer of Chinese language and culture e.g. if you walk in the "Three mountains", you will explore "The Tale of the White Snake", "Goddess Mirage", fascinating legends as well as lovely poetry and acting.

While living in Zhenjiang, you will have many opportunities to talk to warm-hearted and friendly people in our city and practice your Chinese. You will feel the magic of multiple cultures, explore the charm of Chinese culture and enjoy the life style of this small town. Finally, you will have gained your very own special adventure with all this, which will be a unique experience in your life.

At the end of the term and with a sufficient level in spoken Chinese, there will also be opportunities to speak in Chinese at the local radio station or having interviews with the reporter from the Zhenjiang newspapers.

Get ready to immerse in the beauty and history of Zhenjiang

Jiangsu University The Cradle of "Do"ers

Jiangsu University (JSU) is ranked among the top 100 universities out of over 2,000 higher educational institutions in China. JSU is one of the oldest educational institutions in China, and its origin can be traced back to 1902 when it was first established as Sanjiang Normal College. JSU was then founded out of the initial college by combining the former Jiangsu University of Science and Technology (a national key university), Zhenjiang Medical College and Zhenjiang Teachers' College with approval from the Ministry of Education, China in August, 2001.

Currently, JSU is a teaching, research and community oriented comprehensive institution with emphasis on engineering and allied disciplines. It is one of the first groups of universities that offered doctoral programs for students. At the moment, JU has 26 schools offering bachelor, master and PhD degree programs in 9 academic fields namely: Engineering, Science, Medicine, Literature, Economics, Law, Management, Education and History. In addition, the university has 3 national key academic disciplines. In addition, 4 disciplines (namely engineering, chemistry, material and medicine) rank top 1% in the World ESI Ranking System presently.

JSU enjoys a national reputation of being among the top research based academic institution for engineering sciences with several innovative achievements and patents rights for its achievement and contribution to the economic growth of China and world economy. Other academic disciplines have also witnesses astronomical growth in their research faculty and quality of graduates they turn out yearly. This has continually made the University to enjoy an influx of international students from all continents with resultant increased growth in linkages and exchange programmes with other educational institution around the world.

JSU has been entrusted by the United Nations to train many high ranking management personnel and experts in Agricultural Machinery. Since 2005, JSU started to enroll a complete batch of degree learners. Presently, over 1,000 international students from more than 78 countries are studying in JSU. The University internationalization drive has been yielding the desired results through extensive learning and research work.
